1. The role of the class leader in improving the effectiveness of educational work

The power of educational influence of the head of the class on the students, in many ways, his spiritual image is important in the formation of the minds and behavior of the students. The head of the class has a special place in the life of the school, in managing the educational process. He performs a very important and responsible task in the school. Most of the activity of the class leader is related to the educational process. Class leader means a pedagogue (class leader) who leads a group of students of the same level, age, and knowledge.

The main goal of the head of the class is to be able to understand each other with the student and the head of the class in the process of educating the students properly, and to be more attentive to the students on the part of the head of the class. Primary school is the first stage of school education, where children take their first steps under the guidance of a teacher. They acquire knowledge, skills and competencies in educational activities. The teacher works alone with the class and often works as an educator. Teaching activity is characterized by his attitude towards children, great kindness and care. And these are carried out with great demand. It is important for the head of the class to establish the correct relationship with the students and educate them according to their growth and development. In this way, the teacher manages to give pedagogical requirements to the students, parents, educators of the extended day group constantly communicate with the public. The role of the class leader is important in the organization of the class team. The head of the class works together with parents and the public to make the class team cohesive. One of the forms of cooperation is holding a meeting of class parents. To hold a class meeting, first of all, it is necessary to unite the team. The head of the class sees many issues related to the education of children in the meeting. At the class meeting, 3-4 issues will be considered, problematic aspects will be analyzed and they will have to find their own solution. The head of the class sees many issues related to the education of children in the meeting. At the class meeting, 3-4 issues will be considered, problematic aspects will be analyzed and they will have to find their own solution.

The head of the class should encourage the good students in the class, in the new team, during the meeting. Children are friendly with each other. Therefore, they strive for each other and try to study well. Bad students strive for good students and they also start to study well. In addition, the head of the class can organize a library in his class to improve the knowledge level of students. Students can benefit from reading the books in this library outside of class or when they have free time after class.

The class teacher should always be aware of the students. For example, if a student's learning is poor, in order to improve it, the teacher should first meet with the parents and inquire. He should talk to his parents about why he doesn't study well, why he doesn't do classes on time. If the child wants to study well due to all circumstances in the child's family, but is not able to achieve the result he thought, the teacher should transfer the child to a friend who studies well. In addition, gather similar mastering students and teach them in various subjects, for example, mathematics, mother tongue, reading, etc. the teacher should try to increase children's interest in reading by organizing additional classes. It is necessary for the teacher to work actively with the students' parents. After all, parents should also be aware of what is happening in the classroom at school and accompany them when they are in trouble. For this, it is necessary to keep a contact book between the parents and the teacher and keep it without leaving it at all times.

2. The purpose and task of the class leader's work

The head of the class performs the following tasks:

1. Performs educational work in the assigned class. While performing this task, he is not alone, in cooperation with and relying on the teachers of various subjects who teach in this class, he forms the foundations of the national worldview in students, develops their moral education. Organizes students' extracurricular activities and strengthens the class team.

2. It is a special task of the head of the class to guide the students to the profession and form their life goals, taking into account their interest and ability to learn. At the same time, he pays attention to strengthening the health of each student.

3. In the center of attention of the head of the class is the issue of ensuring high level of learning of students. To do this, he is aware of the daily learning efforts of each student. He will help those who are left behind in time and without delay.

4. Directs the self-management of students in the class, ensures the participation of the class team in socially useful activities with their participation, ensures the active participation of the class in important events organized at the school level.

5. Establishes close contact with parents of students, educators of groups with extended school days, foster parents in enterprises and institutions, residences.

6. The head of the class manages to establish uniform requirements for students among all subject teachers teaching in this class, distributes pedagogical knowledge to parents, and strengthens the relationship between the family and the school.

7. The head of the class maintains various documents in his class: class journal, pupil's diaries, tables, personal information, various plans and reports.

It is clear that the task is wide and complex, and their successful solution depends on the personal qualities of the class leader. The quality and effectiveness of educational work depends primarily on the educator's ideological conviction and degree of faith. For this purpose, the head of the class increases his knowledge by regularly learning science news. It is important here that the moral authority of the class leader is extremely high. Only then will the class leader have the opportunity to have an educational impact. The personal qualities and moral image of the teacher have a great influence on the formation of the mind and behavior of students. Because the ability of an educator includes many qualities: deep knowledge, broad-mindedness, dedication to work, boundless love for children, gentleness of behavior,

3. Spiritual and educational work of the head of the class

Classroom educational hours are one of the main forms of organizing educational work in school conditions.
