Introduction

Family. This small word contains a whole world of meaning. Everyone loves, respects and honors his family, the people in it. Because we start being with them from the first days of our birth. Why don't we appreciate people who sympathize with us when we laugh and cry? Think back to a time when you were happy or a little heartbroken... Have you ever felt lonely? Also, your parents, your brothers and sisters always stood shoulder to shoulder with you. They are more happy when you have achievements. Isn't that one of the greatest happiness in the world? When we ask small children about their family, they start talking about grandfather, grandmother, father, mother... Even in the smallest hearts, love for the family is shown. If they feel free in the family circle, If he can feel that he is a worthy and necessary person, such children will grow up to be selfless, family-oriented, caring for family members, hardworking and kind. He educates his children in the same way and raises them to be people who contribute to the development of our country. The family has been considered a sacred fortress since time immemorial. A person is born in a family, grows up and matures. First of all, if the family is strong and peaceful, the society will be stable. Growing children will be given the opportunity to be perfect in all aspects. The family has been considered a sacred fortress since time immemorial. A person is born in a family, grows up and matures. First of all, if the family is strong and peaceful, the society will be stable. Growing children will be given the opportunity to be perfect in all aspects. From the first days of independence, to further increase the position of the family in society, to support it in legal, social, economic, spiritual and moral aspects, to form a medical culture in the family, to create all the organizational and legal conditions for the creation of a healthy family, a strategy for systematic step-by-step implementation of reforms in the field of raising family spirituality was determined. Because the family is considered a sacred and great blessing, many wise people consider the creation of a family as important as the creation of a country. The stability and happy life of the family is considered as the face and reputation of this country. It is not for nothing that developed countries pay so much attention to the family in their countries and try to increase its influence in various ways.

We follow traditional guidelines when building families. It is no secret that the humaneness and longevity of these instructions are the reason why our spirituality has been enriched and our families have been strengthened over the centuries. A good family brings up good-natured, righteous people of faith, exemplary people.

Everyone coming of age should know good family instructions, instructions, regulations, and rules. This knowledge and desire will help them organize their families well and manage these small countries properly. A happy family life means a blessed life.

No matter how great a nation is, such a nation cannot live long in the world if the family is not organized and education is not paid attention to.

In our nation, the position of the father in the family has been high since time immemorial. The head of the family's dignified entrance from the street into the yard, his serious and testy eyes, arouses allanechuk hadik and vigilance in everyone. Before doing something, there is always the thought "atam bung anima derkin". more often than not because of the negative action we takewe fear the rebuke of our father. Our mother's words like "I'll tell your father" come to mind...

A father's love for his child is infinite. He is the happiest person in the world. Our beloved, whose heart is full of love for us, the person who considers our happiness more important than his own, is a father. The child is a part of the father and resembles him in appearance and behavior. Therefore, the father pays attention to the education of his child. He strives to give his child the perfection he wants, to raise him to be more perfect than himself. It endures any hardship on the way to its goal. It is the responsibility of every child to show respect to such noble fathers and to get their approval.

God will show us the good we do to our fathers and the result of the honor we give them through our children. As much as a father protects his child from the fire of this world, he must protect him from the fire of the hereafter even more. A father protects his child from the fire of the hereafter by teaching good manners, preventing bad behavior, not indulging in bad hair, and not instilling love for loss. On the other hand, if a child grows up in the world's demands, if he cannot fight against his ego, he will face destruction.

Think of your father as the sun, think of your mother as the moon. A person who hurts his father's heart will be despised in the country, a person who hurts his mother's heart will be forced to a piece of bread. In each of these wise words, life truth, great humanity is reflected. A father is for a child, a strong support, honor, dreams and hope, guardian of truth and justice on the way to the future. An example with social and work activities, good morals and behavior. Every good work is a teacher, a coach, a school of generosity and kindness.

It is necessary for the father to be the sultan in the center of the family. Just as every country needs a leader, every family needs a leader. What he says is a command, his position is higher than that of others. If the husband cannot take his place in the family, others will claim this place. This will cause the family to lose its ruler, and at the same time, the father will fall into a position where no one needs him. You see, the young men who grew up in this family do not leave the line drawn by the woman and continue this "tradition" even after they have a family.

A husband knows very well that if he says two words, a spark will turn into a fight and a lot of things will be thrown at him. As a result, there are more and more courageous fathers who look into the eyes of their wives and cannot do anything without her guidance. When the head of the family steps into the house from the street, his tongue should open and his heart should be open. Unfortunately, we also meet women who prepare for their husband's arrival, tell him all the details of the house, and cause problems out of nowhere. This habit makes a man bored from home. My children look up to their father from a young age. I covered some of the mistakes they made, I will explain to his father. That's why the thought of "What is my father saying" is in the minds of children. Every step they take, what they do, is judged by their father. Their father may not always ask them carefully about their work, but I myself remind them of their father's "position". If the father rules in every family, there will be blessing in that house. According to observations, a child who is constantly controlled by a woman, even when he reaches the age of a young man, thinks that the mother should decide everything in the family, and the man should lie down watching TV. After all, the place on the grid is never empty! but I myself remind them of their father's "position". If the father rules in every family, there will be blessing in that house. By helping children understand how much they are valued and loved, children whose fathers support them will have higher self-esteem, be happier, and have more self-confidence. This positive effect continues even into adolescence – children whose fathers are actively involved in their upbringing show a reduction in adolescent risky behavior. Fathers of their children emotional development have a great impact.

Parents contribute to a child's cognitive development through their interactions and parenting style. Fathers are childrengender roleand plays a decisive role in forming the understanding of relations. Fathers challenge traditional gender stereotypes and promote equality by being actively involved in caregiving and household tasks. Parent-child relationships make a significant contribution to a child's social development. Fathers often engage in play, which involves negotiation, cooperation and problem-solving, and the development of important social skills. Interactions between fathers and children provide an opportunity to learn effective communication, empathy, and conflict resolution. In addition, the presence of a supportive and involved father improves a child's social competence and relationships with peers, which leads to improved emotional regulation and social integration. Fathers play an important role in shaping a child's self-esteem and personality. Through positive affirmations, encouragement, and praise, fathers help children develop strong self-esteem and confidence..

And so. Father's place in the family is unique. Father's love is a value embedded in human blood, veins, and cells.
