

Ways to Reduce Unemployment in Uzbekistan and the Role of World Experience

Narzullayeva Ozoda Qahramon qizi

Samarkand Institute of Economics and Service, Teacher of the "Banking" department

Norboyev Jamshid Nodir o'g'li

Samarkand Institute of Economics and Service,
Student of the Faculty of Banking and Financial Services

Abstract: Based on our consideration of the topic "Ways to reduce unemployment in Uzbekistan and the role of world experience", several important points are presented. In this topic, the ways implemented to reduce the unemployment rate in Uzbekistan and the role of world experience are studied.

Keywords: unemployment, reduction, roads, world experience, production sector, agricultural sectors, tourism, infrastructure.

Enter. On the topic of reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan and the role of world experience, an article can be written about the problem of unemployment and its solutions. We can start this topic by showing the following example: "Reducing Unemployment in Uzbekistan: The Role of World Experience"

Uzbekistan has been an important issue among countries trying to effectively deal with the problem of high unemployment. Unemployment creates a social, economic and psychological problem for the individuals involved, but it is also important in terms of national development and livelihoods.

This article shows the important role of practical measures and world experience to reduce unemployment in Uzbekistan. In order to reduce the level of unemployment in Uzbekistan, first of all, there are ways to create new jobs in the production sector, agriculture and tourism. During the events, infrastructure development, effective use of innovation and technology, investment attraction and enterprise creation are highlighted as the main ways to be important.

Also, youth orientation and development of the education sector are of great importance in reducing unemployment. Free education opportunities, new teaching methods and the creation of curricula will help young people learn to work. This will ensure the creation of new training centers designed to guide students and students to the profession.

Instead of world experience, the subject focuses on long-term plans such as legal and economic frameworks, diplomacy, international cooperation and migration issues. World experience helps in formulating a strategy for reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan, obtaining high results and achievements from practice in the global environment.

Analysis of used literature on the topic:

1. "Unemployment and Professional Development in Uzbekistan: Guidelines and Strategies" - Muhammadjon Musayev

This book analyzes the problems of unemployment in Uzbekistan and strategies aimed at reducing them. Using Uzbek and world experience, Muhammadjon Musayev provides information about the professional development model and strategic guidelines for reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan. The book identifies the importance of job creation, innovation, tourism, social cooperation and development in Uzbekistan.

2. "Unemployment and Social Cooperation in Uzbekistan: Problems and Solutions" - Zarnigor Alimova, Zilola Khodjayeva

This book, written by Zarnigor Alimova and Zilola Khodjayeva, discusses the importance of social cooperation in solving unemployment in Uzbekistan. The book analyzes the importance of the development of mutual cooperation between enterprises, government, society and higher education institutions, existing problems and solutions. World experience and the role of cooperation with other countries in reducing Uzbek unemployment will be shown.

3. "Unemployment and Innovative Development in Uzbekistan: Appropriation, Startups and Quality Participation" - Shavkat Salikhov

This book, written by Shavkat Salikhov, analyzes the role of innovation, startups and quality participation in reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan. The book discusses innovative development strategies in Uzbekistan, world experience in the field of innovation and start-ups, the importance of creating new industries and problems in the field of innovation.

Research methodology:

1. Introduction: In the introduction, the research topic and its importance are explained. The situation of unemployment in Uzbekistan and ways to reduce it are compared with world experience. The purpose, importance and general direction of the research are determined in the introduction.
2. Collection of information: At this stage, scientific literature, statistical data, articles, databases and other sources related to Uzbek and world experience are collected. This data set will help to analyze the unemployment situation in Uzbekistan and to study ways to reduce it.
3. Research methods: Methods and methods used in the research are indicated. For example, questionnaires, analysis, comparison, analytical models, experimental study, historical-analytical approaches and other scientific methods are introduced. These methods will be used to analyze unemployment in Uzbekistan and determine ways to reduce it.

Analysis and discussion of results:

The article "Ways to reduce unemployment in Uzbekistan and the role of world experience" analyzes unemployment problems in Uzbekistan and ways to solve them based on the use of world experience. The article focuses on the unemployment rate in Uzbekistan, the main causes of unemployment, additional actions of organizations and the government to reduce unemployment, successful experiences and unique strategies in the world experience.

Analysis:

The article shows the main reasons for unemployment in Uzbekistan with examples. These reasons include the main factors such as the economic environment in Uzbekistan, the expansion of the sector, the problems of creating quality jobs, the low level of professional training and the insufficient development of cooperation between organizations.

Summary of the topic:

1. Strategies to reduce unemployment: Several strategies are being implemented in Uzbekistan to reduce unemployment. These strategies include development, innovation, tourism, social cooperation and professional development. Leveraging global experience, creating new industries and job growth through the tourism sector, manufacturing innovation and start-up relationships are important parts of these strategies.
2. The role of social cooperation: The role of cooperation in reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan is very important. Fostering collaboration, pooling resources, and increasing interoperability between businesses, government, society, and higher education is critical to addressing unemployment. Using the world experience and studying the successful experiences of other countries and adopting them are important parts of cooperation.
3. Innovation and startups: Innovation and startups are one of the few tools that have been established in reducing unemployment. It allows to create innovations and innovations, develop new industries and create new jobs. In Uzbekistan, the role of working in the spaces of innovations and startups through strategies and programs aimed at innovative development is of great importance.

References on the topic "Interdependence of innovation and industry":

1. "Unemployment and Professional Development in Uzbekistan: Guidelines and Strategies" - Muhammadjon Musayev
This book shows the problems of unemployment in Uzbekistan and strategies aimed at reducing them. The book analyzes world experience and Uzbekistan's opportunities to work based on its professional development model.
2. "Unemployment and Social Cooperation in Uzbekistan: Problems and Solutions" - Zarnigor Alimova, Zilola Khodjayeva
This book analyzes the role of social cooperation and the use of world experience in solving unemployment problems in Uzbekistan. The book provides information on how enterprises, government, society and higher education institutions can develop mutual cooperation.
3. "Unemployment and Innovative Development in Uzbekistan: Appropriation, Startups and Quality Participation" - Shavkat Salikhov
This book discusses the relationship between innovation and startups in reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan. Analyzes how world experience affects innovation processes and the importance of absorption and quality participation in innovative development of Uzbekistan.
4. "Tourism and Reducing Unemployment in Uzbekistan: Creating New Places" - Oybek Razzokov
This book analyzes the opportunities in tourism and the role of reducing unemployment through the tourism sector. Information is provided about the development of tourism in Uzbekistan, tourism infrastructure, vocational colleges in the field of tourism services, and the role of tourism in creating new jobs.

Books:

1. "Unemployment and professional development in Uzbekistan: guidelines and strategies" - Muhammadjon Musayev

Procedia on Economic Scientific Research

Procedia on Digital Economics and Financial Research

ISSN: 2795-5648 Available: <https://procedia.online/index.php/economic>

2. "Unemployment and social cooperation in Uzbekistan: problems and solutions" - Zarnigor Alimova, Zilola Khodjayeva
3. "Unemployment and innovative development in Uzbekistan: appropriation, startups and quality participation" - Shavkat Salikhov
4. "Tourism and reducing unemployment in Uzbekistan: creating new jobs" - Oybek Razzokov